

political prisoners, America, black community, unjust laws, judicial system, resistance, social conditions, political prisoner, slavery, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, fugitive slave law, Cleveland Edwards, Black Liberation, Martin Luther King, fugitive slave laws, Black Codes, fundamental human rights, law enforcement agencies, Judge Webster Thayer, Carl Schmitt, black communities, J. Edgar Hoover, fugitive slave, Angela Y. Davis, racism, political act, black liberation movement, revolutionary struggle, political ideology, struggle for freedom, criminal aggression, Black Panther Party, criminal assault, John Brown, political activists, Nat Turner, California prison system, black and brown, national oppression, struggle for liberation, California Governor Ronald, revolutionary movements, prison guard

Political prisoners, prisons, and black liberation