Hofstede, study, cultural dimensions, Confucianism, cultural values, questionnaires, universities, scales, public universities, American university, uncertainty avoidance, U.S., reliability, pilot study, Taiwan, Intercultural Communication Studies, Intercultural Communication, organizations, organizational communication, international differences, power distance, Hofstede’s Cultural Dimensions, Wu Hofstede, Western Brick University, Aborn 1 Hofstede, Wu Hofstede, Western Culture, cross-cultural psychology, Eastern culture, cross-cultural studies, Chinese values, Dimensions Hofstede, cross-cultural research, quantitative survey questionnaire, gender roles, dissertation study, masculinity and femininity, cross-cultural, Dorfman, Communication Quarterly, Chinese Culture Connection, individualistic culture, Wu References Brislin, Journal of Cross Cultural Psychology, Collectivism, Journal of Social Psychology

Hofstede’s cultural dimensions 30 years later: A study of Taiwan and the United States