universities, global capitalism, Globalization, state support, university reform, entrepreneurship, capitalism, institutions, Carlos Alberto Torres, manifestations, global trade, academic leaders, Privatization, World Trade Organization, Pennsylvania State University, Michigan State University, Stanford, World Trade University, Chung Cheng Educational Studies, Standardization, academic units, global higher education, European Union, Cultural Globalization, Globalization of Human Rights, international relations, national borders, National Chung Cheng University, Accreditation processes, education system, United Nations Educational, Milton Friedman, China, private sector, structural adjustment programs, international banking, global university, Moore Hall, Robert A.Rhoads, human resources capacity, international business, Virtual University, United Nations, deregulation, Atilio Boron, colleges and universities, socialist market economy, educational development, Challenges Robert A. Rhoads, Kyoto University, Tokyo University.