Vote Buying in Brazil: From Impunity to Prosecution

Brazil, politicians, vote buying, popular initiative, civil society, vote, interviews, TSE, municipalities, prosecutions, elections, judiciary, Marlon Reis, Committee Against Vote Buying, Committees, public support, President Fernando Henrique Cardoso, Popular initiatives, constitutional committees, Tribunal Superior Eleitoral, 9840 Committee, electoral laws, Harvard Academy, citizens, formal interviews, clientelism, electronic voting, Símon Nohmer, Balneário Nohmer, Direito Eleitoral, Department of Political Science, regional politicians, electoral campaigns, relational clientelism, Stanford University Press, Center for Global Development