honour killing, family, Amandeep Atwal, immigrant communities, Canada, domestic violence, Aqsa Parvez, Renate van der Zee, Abu-Lughod, Rajinder A. Amandeep, crimes d'honneur, understanding, legal approaches, culture, honour killings, community, CANADIAN CRIMINAL LAW, immigrant families, family honour, forced marriage, le concept de culture, systemic violence, Netherlands, article, Criminal Justice Policy Review, Anna G. Horteweg, Lila Abu-Lughod, Violence Against Women, Durro J., social patterns, sentence, NRC Handelsblad, Muhammad Parvez, Waqas Parvez, Rajinder Singh A. Amandeep, Canadian society, Amandeep, legal systems, restrictive immigration laws, legal system, legal justice system, understanding culture

Understanding honour killing and honour-related violence in the immigration context: Implications for the legal profession and beyond