Advances in synthetic optically active condensation polymers - A review