Historical demography, fertility, fertility limitation, population growth, population, Gutmann, Belgium, rural industry, Belgian reseachers, Franklin Mendel, demographic history, fertility control, Leboutte, Thierry Eggerickx, study of urban history, Population Registers, Jan de Vries, North America, Indiana University, demographic data, Gaspard Marnette, Belgian History, fertility declines, demographic history of Belgium, fertility declines, Professor of History.

Belgian historical demography as viewed from North America: Protoindustrialization, fertility decline, and the use of population registers.